

Cape Town Local Uninterruptible Power Supply BESS Station

Overview

Does South Africa support Bess?

The South African Government supports BESS as a strategic part of its energy plans, managed through the Battery Energy Storage IPP Procurement Programme. Brazil, India, Egypt, Kenya, Nigeria, and Lithuania have all launched BESS systems or are in the process of doing so. In 2023, Eskom opened the Hex BESS site at Worcester in the Western Cape.

Why should a large utility use Bess?

BESS provides large utilities the headroom to upgrade their systems without disrupting energy delivery. It supports ancillary services such as frequency regulation, voltage support, and reactive power control, improving power quality and grid resilience.

What is Bess energy storage & how does it work?

BESS stores excess energy during high generation periods and releases it during low renewable output, ensuring continuous power supply. Integrating energy storage with renewables aids in reducing greenhouse gas emissions and promotes sustainable energy practices.

What is Bess & how does it work?

Instead of curtailing renewable energy independent power producer (REIPP) output, which results in energy wastage, BESS provides a more economically viable solution. BESS contributes ancillary services such as frequency regulation, voltage support, and reactive power control, enhancing grid reliability and power quality.
