Overview

Is solar energy a good idea for nonprofits?

Solar power is emissions-free, and the increasing adoption of solar, along with other renewable energy technologies, decreases the overall emissions that large buildings generate over time. Despite the many benefits of solar energy, many nonprofits lack the funding to install a solar panel system.

Does a nonprofit organization need solar?

Many nonprofit organizations are committed to cleaner, green energy, and going solar is one way to meet those goals. Installing solar decreases your organization's overall carbon footprint because carbon dioxide emissions are typically generated from coal or natural gas-based electricity.
